How to get to the International Congress Centre of Dresden

By plane:

- Arrival at the Dresden Klotzsche Airport;
- Take the S-Bahn (found in the lower level of the terminal) to the railway station "Dresden Neustadt";
- Tram Line number 6, direction Gorbitz, two stations to "Maxstrasse" station; or
- Tram line 11, direction Zschertnitz, two stations to the "Haus der Presse" station;
- The Congress Center is visible to the left after driving over the Marienbrücke Bridge;
- Walk down Könneritzstrasse in the direction of Marienbrücke Bridge, turn right onto Devrientstrasse, the first left turn onto Ostra Ufer.

By car:

Exit at Dresden Altstadt

(when coming from the direction of Frankfurt)
Exit the motorway at Dresden Altstadt to the city centre (Richtung Zentrum) on the B6 Meissen Landstrasse (Country Road).

It turns into Hamburger Strasse, which becomes the Schäferstrasse.

At the intersection of Weisseritzstrasse before the railway underpass, turn left onto the Weisseritzstrasse.

At the signpost directions Innenstadt (to the city centre) (possibly Congress Center) turn right on to Ostra Ufer.

Pass through the railway bridge and the Marienbrücke Bridge

The International Congress Center of Dresden will then be visible on the left.

Exit at Dresden Neustadt

(coming from the direction of Berlin/Bautzen)

Exit the motorway at Dresden-Nord to the city centre (Richtung Zentrum) onto Radeberger Strasse (E55)

Drive down Radeberger Strasse, it becomes Hansastrasse.

After passing through the railway bridge, right on Antonstrasse, continue over Marienbrücke Bridge.

Turn right on Weisseritzstrasse at the first fork in the road after the bridge (pass under the railway bridge).

At the next intersection turn right on to Ostra Ufer.

Drive through the railway bridge and the Marienbrücke Bridge.
